This solution currently includes ONLY products certified to the ANSI standard. As other regulatory certifications are received, this solution will be made available in those regions. Until a product has been replaced, the “Stop Use and Recall” notice remains in effect and product must be removed from service. The original Notice and a list of affected products by part number and regulatory standard can be found at www.ShockWaveRecall.com.

Call to action on returning materials: until your unit has been replaced, the “Stop Use and Recall” remains in effect and these units must be removed from service. If you have not yet made a claim or returned your lanyard materials, please do so at your earliest convenience.
